Chamberlain Rules on Spain

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, June 14—Although 22 British merchantmen have been attacked in Spanish waters in the last two months, Great Britain is not prepared to take retaliatory action, Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain told the House of Commons today.

Instead, he said, the government is considering two proposals for prevention of further outrages by purely "peaceful means."

Answering growing demands for stern reprisals against the attackers, Chamberlain ruled out the use of warships or anti-aircraft guns on the grounds this would be tantamount to British intervention in the Spanish civil war.

The premier warned British ships entering war zones in the Mediterranean or elsewhere do so "at their own risk." For Britain to take an active part in the hostilities, he said, "might well result in spread of the conflict far beyond its present limits."

The proposals being considered Chamberlain outlined as follows:

1—Establishment of safety zones in certain harbors.

2—Selection of a single port in Spanish government territory outside the zones of military operations where British ships might discharge their cargoes unhindered.

Mr. Hearst Interviewed By His Son David

BALTIMORE, Md., June 14 (INS)—Mr. W. R. Hearst, publisher, came to Baltimore with several officials of the Hearst newspapers to visit his son, David Whitmire Hearst, assistant city editor of the Baltimore News-Post and Sunday American.

Young Mr. Hearst took the opportunity to interview his father. "Why are you in Baltimore?" David asked.

"I am here to visit a son of mine, one David Hearst, who recently got married to a very lovely young lady and went to Europe for his honeymoon."

"He should have come West to visit his fond parent, but as he did not do so the fond parent aforesaid, has come some 3000 miles from the state of California, of which he is a resident, to visit the above-mentioned son."

Q—Have you any other interests besides said son in Baltimore?

A—Yes, indeed. I have a newspaper that you probably have heard of since you work on it. I am going to look that over a bit and then I may go to Atlanta, where I have another son and another newspaper and then to Pittsburgh and Chicago and Detroit where I have newspapers but unfortunately no sons.

Q—Is anybody traveling with you on this tour of inspection of newspapers and sons?

A—Yes, Mr. T. J. White, general manager of the properties, and Mr. Joseph Connolly, manager of the syndicates, and Mr. Edmund D. Cobbents, editor-in-chief.

Q—Will you be here long?

A—No, only a few days. I have to get back to California in time to vote in the primaries there. We have a very interesting election in California this year. President Roosevelt is going there to help Senator McAdoo and the sale is very much stirred up about it.

U. S. Flag, We Salute You

Massed salute to the Stars and Stripes by thousands of pupils in Greater Boston schools today marked the start of the general observance of Flag Day, which culminates this evening in scores of community parades and patriotic exercises.

Leading the Metropolitan area, Bostonians will conduct solemn ceremonies on Boston Common at 7:45, at which Attorney-General Paul A. Dever will deliver the principal address.

A patriotic parade will precede the Common observance, starting from Copley square at 7 o'clock.

In Cambridge the towns of Brookline, Winchester and Watertown will join the university city in Flag Day exercises on Cambridge Common.

In Cambridge, the parade, sponsored by local Elks, will include marchers from veteran, fraternal and civic organizations. The speaker on the Common will be Congressman Joseph E. Casey of Clinton.

It is expected that all loyal citizens today will wear miniature American flags on coat lapels and dresses and display the colors from their homes and places of business. Motorists are also urged to deck their cars with small American flags.

PARADE, SPEECHES

The Boston Flag Day parade will start at 7 o'clock in Copley square and travel over Boylston and Tremont streets to the West street path into the Common.

Lt. Earl R. Gilbert of the 211th Coast Artillery will be marshal of the line, with Lt. Col. Frank J. O'Rourke, 26th Division, M. N. G., as chief of staff and Lt. Francis L. Beaver, adjutant.

The colorful ceremony of "Retreat" will be observed at the municipal flagpole on the Common at 7:45 o'clock, members of the 211th Coast Artillery and the Naval Reserve band participating.

Exercises at the Parkman bandstand will follow, including the addresses by Atty. Gen. Dever, Mayor Tobin, Joseph L. Murphy, exiled ruler of the Boston lodge of Elks, and others. There will be by the Boston Fire Department band.

FLAG DAY OBSERVANCE—Dorchester high school stages an impressive Flag Day celebration, with uniformed students saluting the Stars and Stripes while a bugle sounds. Flag pledge was taken . . . "I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America, and to the republic for which it stands; one nation, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

Death Flood!

150,000 Die Tragedy In China

SHANGHAI, June 14 (AP)—Japanese authorities said tonight they believed 150,000 Chinese civilians had been drowned by flood waters of the Yellow river now spreading over a wide area in northern Honan province.

Flood conditions were said to be worst in the Chungmow area, about 25 miles east of Chengchow, the railway junction which has been objective of Japan's recent offensive, now stalled by the Yellow river's overflow.

Japanese officers here said they had no information concerning the fate of large Japanese forces scattered through the flooded area.

U. S. Ships Guard Americans on Yangtze

HANKOW, June 14 (AP)—Rear Admiral David M. Le Breton, commander of the United States Navy's Yangtze river patrol, today instructed vessels above Wuhu to stay at their posts to protect American property and lives.

His instructions were issued after Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, commander of the United States Asiatic fleet, had rejected a Japanese request to neutral powers that their ships be removed from the river in the 200-mile stretch between Wuhu and Klaukiang, where Japanese naval vessels are advancing on Hankow.

Jap Air Raiders Again Bomb Canton

HONGKONG, June 14 (AP)—Japanese air raiders who passed by Canton yesterday for the first time in 17 days without dropping bombs, returned to the attack again today.

Japanese planes, estimated at 20 in number, roared over the city and bombed the outskirts.

DAY OF DAYS—Children of the Roosevelt and Clark clans will be thrilled even more than the grownups on Saturday in Nahant, when Anne Lindsay Clark becomes Mrs. John Roosevelt. Above is pictured Joan Clark, Anne's little sister, who'll be flower girl. Eleanor and Curtis Dall and Betsy Roosevelt, President's grandchildren, are other important young guests.

G-Men Survey Bridal Scene

By MARJORIE McBRIDE

An exhaustive and secret survey of Nahant, scene of the Roosevelt-Clark marriage next Saturday, was made by secret service men at an early morning hour today in preparation for the President's coming.

The guarded survey which took place before dawn so as not to arouse townspeople, was conducted by Harry Barker, New England agent of the Secret Service, and two of his trusted aides.

Every foot of the entire route to be traversed by the bridal couple, Presidential party, and visiting dignitaries was marked for mileage and checked on a time schedule.

Every move of the marriage ceremony was charted.

Barker's tour, preliminary to the arrival of Colonel Edward Starling, chief of the White House secret service, also included a practice run from the Town Wharf, where the President's yacht Patomac may dock, in a tender to the Clarke home in Swallow Cove, just over a mile's distance.

Final arrangements for a plane convoy, to escort the President's boat through Naval District One, were also completed.

SEAPLANE ENGAGED

With capital attaches and staff members arriving to set up a "little White House" over the weekend in the New Ocean House, Swampscott, a seaplane out of the Salem Coast Guard was engaged.

The plane will be piloted by Frank Leamy of the Coast Guard and will stand ready to fly Congressional correspondence and important documents from the President's headquarters to Boston or other points.

CARS CHECKED

Late today, Police Chief Thomas M. Larkin of Nahant and Police Chief James Broad of Lynn will meet with Barker and his men to draw up policing schedules for the big day.

It will not be Larkin and Barker's first meeting. Both were on hand back in 1902 when President "Teddy" Roosevelt visited Nahant to spend a weekend with the late Senator Henry Cabot Lodge.

At that time Barker was on the Minister Bans Rich-Poor Nuptials

Ship Heiress Bridal Halted

NEW YORK, June 14 (AP)—An Episcopal clergyman, who said "I don't care to marry two people of varying social and financial standing," today upset the wedding plans of 18-year-old Andrea Luckenbach, shipping heiress, and William Dobbs, 22, butter and egg salesman and amateur rider.

The minister was the Rev. William Grimes, pastor of St. Paul's Episcopal church at Great Neck, Long Island, who was to have officiated at the wedding at 5 p. m.

The Rev. Mr. Grimes denied that either disapproval on the part of Andrea's father, Commodore Edgar F. Luckenbach, multi-millionaire shipping magnate, or fear of a reprimand from his ecclesiastical superiors had led him to decline to perform the ceremony.

"I have a principle," he explained.

WILL WED ANYHOW

The bridegroom-to-be's mother, Mrs. Henry Reston of Forest Hills, Long Island, said the wedding would "go on as scheduled," though she did not know where the ceremony would be performed.

Commodore Luckenbach, head of the shipping line which bears his name, has frowned on the match, declaring Andrea is still "too young."

But Andrea has proved before now that she has a mind of her own. The commodore's wishes have not been law to her.

She doesn't even quail at the possibility he may cut off her allowance, for when she is 21, three years from now, she'll inherit $1,000,000 of her own from the estate of her mother, the late Andrea Marie Fenwick Luckenbach of Toronto, who died in 1937.

THREATENED TO FLEE

Last time there was a clash of wills between daughter Andrea and her white-garbed dad, she threatened to run away from exclusive school at Aiken, S. C.

She was as good as her word and was on her way north, with a girl chum, when her father had her taken off a bus in Washington.

That was only last spring. And Andrea had her way, in the end, quitting school and returning to the palatial Luckenbach estate at Sands Point, L. I.

HE PAYS THE RENT

Friends pointed out today that Andrea's intended marriage to Billy Dobbs was no sudden whim.

For the past four months, she and her young butter and egg salesman fiancé have been furnishing West View Farm on Berry Hill road, Syosset, a country home which they leased with option to buy.

Dobbs, who earns his own living and something to spare, paid all the expenses of setting up what was to be the honeymoon nest.

Everything was elaborately arranged for today's ceremony, including the bride's costume and attendants.

Mrs. Adolf Garmi, wife of the first vice-president of W. R. Grace & Co., a close friend of the young couple and a member of Dr. Grimes' church, said she was going ahead with plans for the wedding reception at her home, regardless of the minister's decision.

Miss Luckenbach, known to intimates as "Bubbles," will be attended at the wedding by Anna Deere Wiman, daughter of Dwight Deere Wiman, theatrical producer. She will be given in marriage by her half-brother, Lewis Luckenbach, whose yacht the young couple will use for a short wedding cruise in Long Island Sound.

Hitler Spurs Jewish Drive

By PIERRE J. HUSS

International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, June 14 (INS)—Adolf Hitler today envisaged Germany as the future mecca of world travelers and at the same moment the Nazis' systematic anti-Jewish drive was intensified throughout the country.

Numerous disorders were reported and windows of Jewish shops in Berlin's East End were shattered by rioters. Officially, Nazi quarters denied knowledge of new anti-Jewish measures and the official news agency gave wide prominence to the Fuehrer's speech in which he said world travelers would eventually recognize Berlin as the "pivotal point of civilization."

three counts of larceny in the same amounts, "being an elected official and conspiring with the intent to embezzle."

Under the law, if he is found guilty of the charges, he can be removed immediately from public office, but he has pleaded not guilty to the larceny and embezzlement charges.

22 Other Men Indicted

In addition to Mayor O'Brien and Chief Tighe, those named in the new indictments today include the following:

Police Lieutenant Henry Tracy, head of the Revere vice squad; Inspector William C. Gibson, member of the vice squad; Charles Shuman, Francis (Hucker) McGlinchey, Jacob (Tootsie Jake) Stutman.

Joseph Tatelman, Bernard (Barney) Pochat, Robert (Roderick) McKay, Louis Alpert, John (Packey) Walsh, Herman Schomburg, Archie Engle, Max Pollack, Louis Blatt, James Duval.

John Polando, Morris Rosen, Joseph (Eaglebeak) Cordillo, Jacob (Scootschie) Chansky, Joseph Brooks, William O'Brien and Thomas (Timothy) O'Connell.

Action Follows Gaming Raid

Others are Peter (Big Peter) Hedstrom, declared to have been with David J. (Beano) Breen when he was slain last December in the Hotel Metropolitan lobby, Boston; Samuel Langford, Joseph Chiera, Bernard McGarry, a Breen bodyguard; Frank De Maio.

Robert McCormick, Joseph (Little Bozo) Cortese, Jacob Lefkowitz, John Morton, Julius Goldstein, Samuel Brickman, Charles Goldberg, Joseph Gauthier, William L. O'Brien, Jr., John Procus and Max (Dutchy) Gorfein.

It is understood that the indictment charges grow out of complaints, state police raids on the Ruby Club and North Shore Garage in Revere and evidence turned up by investigators during the attorney-general's probe into Revere rackets and racketeers.

Both the Ruby Club and the North Shore Garage, alleged gambling and horse play clubs, were raided by state troopers on February 22, 1937.

The indictments, it is also understood, constitute only a first general batch of indictments growing out of the extraordinary grand jury investigation.

Alaska Exile
For Communists,
Hague's Plan

NEWARK, N. J., June 14 (INS).—A camp in Alaska for native born residents who believe in Communism or fascism, and deportation for those believers who came to the United States from other lands was frigidly suggested by Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City today from the witness stand of federal court here.

Hague is defendant in injunction proceedings instituted by the CIO, the Civil Liberties Union and others who charge that he has automatically suspended the free speech provisions of the Constitution in his city. His examination was begun today.

"Do you believe persons who believe in the doctrine of Mussolini, Stalin and Hitler should go back where they came from?" Hague snapped.

"Anyone who lives here and is displeased with our form of government, should not be put out, but driven out!"

"How about those born here?" prodded Frazer.

"I think we should establish a camp in Alaska and keep them there if they are opposed to our government. There should be a remedy."

Hague was at ease on the stand and answered questions with little pauses for reflection.

In response to one question he snapped:

"I'd like to let the people take a vote on whether they wish to be 100 per cent American or left wing. Candidates seeking support on the left would be defeated."

Ely to Accept Rugg's Post

(Copyright, 1938, by the Boston Evening American)

Former Governor Joseph B. Ely will accept the post as chief justice of the supreme court.

This was learned today by the Boston Evening American from an unimpeachable source.

From the same source it was learned that the former governor had been offered the position made vacant through the death of Chief Justice Arthur Prentice Rugg on Sunday.

Ely himself, in his suite at the Copley-Plaza Hotel, refused to comment on the information. Through his own words, however, he did indicate that he would be in a mood to accept the high post.

"It is a tremendous honor to be named chief justice, as this is the most important office in the Commonwealth," he said.

"It is the most important administrative post of justice and is the apex of our government."

"Anyone offered the position cannot lightly turn it down."

If former Governor Ely takes his place on the supreme court bench, it will mark the first time that a Democrat has been chief justice in Massachusetts.

No nomination will be made, however, until after the June 30 of the beloved Chief Justice Rugg tomorrow afternoon, Governor Hurley himself has said.

WOULD HELP HURLEY

Appointment of Ely would considerably strengthen Governor Hurley's political fences in the central and western sections of Massachusetts at a time when this would do Hurley no political harm at all. Ely would become the 17th chief justice of the Massachusetts Supreme Court in the event that the governor's council acted favorably on the nomination.

In the event that the executive council rejected the nomination, the governor would have at his disposal a choice between nominating a present member of the supreme bench, or going out of that field entirely for a man.

HAS CHOSEN TWO

The present six justices on the bench are Arthur W. Dolan, Fred T. Field, Stanley E. Quis, Louis S. Cox, Charles H. Donahue and Henry T. Lummus.

Of the six, Governor Hurley himself appointed two Justices, Dolan and Cox, elevating them from other courts.

Thus Hurley becomes the first

Governor in 57 years to have three supreme court appointments in a period of two years.

If Hurley goes outside the court itself to pick a new chief justice, he has available and high on the possibly list such men as James J. Ronan, chief assistant to Attorney-General Paul A. Dever; James W. Sullivan of Lynn, member of the state board of bar examiners, and former Mayor Mansfield.

Lieut. O'Hara Suspended

Charged with conduct unbecoming an officer, Lieutenant Thomas J. O'Hara of the Revere police was suspended from duty today on order of Mayor James M. O'Brien.

The mayor would not immediately reveal the nature of the O'Hara suspension charges, but declared he would disclose them later.

Lieutenant O'Hara has appealed his suspension and a public hearing will be granted him by the mayor within 14 days.

While secrecy shrouded the cause for the suspension order, it is known that Lieutenant O'Hara was on the carpet before Mayor O'Brien a short time ago after an alleged altercation with officials at Wonderland dog track.

2 Drown, 2 Saved In Melrose Tragedy

Two men were drowned in Ell pond, Melrose, today, after one of them had become exhausted aiding two girl swimmers.

The second man victim died after plunging, fully clothed, to the rescue of the first.

The victims: Charles Barnes, 21, of Silver Lake road, Wilmington. George C. Lee, 25, of Northey street, Salem.

According to police, Barnes attempted to swim across Ell Pond with two girls, Rose Spadafora, 18, and Alethea Montgomery, 18, both of Melrose street, Melrose.

As the three swimmers neared the Emerson street side of the pond the girls became exhausted.

Young Barnes went to their assistance and succeeded in holding them up until they regained their strength. Then he told them:

"Make for shore! I'll follow you!"

As they reached the beach they saw Barnes go down.

Their screams and the screams of several women, who were sitting in the rear of an Emerson street house, attracted the attention of Lee, a salesman who was passing in his automobile.

Running to the pond, he tried to launch a boat, but found it chained and locked.

Then he took off his shoes and coat and plunged to the assistance of Barnes.

When Lee reached Barnes the youth got a strangle hold on him and pulled him under water, the watchers said.

BODIES RECOVERED

First body recovered was that of Lee. It was brought to the surface by Paul Watson and Gustavus Twobig of the Melrose Fire Department.

Barnes' body was recovered 15 minutes later by Roger Wingate and Walter Davis of Melrose.

Police, firemen, gas company emergency squad men and four doctors from nearby Melrose Hospital worked for more than an hour, vainly trying to revive the drowned men.

'Not Quitting!' Kennedy Says

He spoke from his private office in the embassy.

The call was put in to ascertain the truth or falsity of a copyrighted story appearing today in Lord Beaverbrook's London Daily Express to the effect that Mr. Kennedy would resign the ambassadorship he has held only three months.

"NO TRUTH IN IT"

This story, widely reprinted in the United States and appearing this morning in one Boston newspaper, declared:

"Ambassador Kennedy wants to quit his job with a blaze of glory and for that reason he is arranging a settlement of the British debt to the United States."

Mr. Kennedy made this reply through the Boston Evening American:

"There is not one word of truth in that story."

"I am returning to America to take part in the graduation exercises at Harvard next week. I am going over to see my son, Joseph, graduate."

"I shall leave here tomorrow and I will arrive in New York Saturday or Sunday. From New York I shall go direct to Boston. HAS NO DEBT PLAN"

"I have no intention of resigning as the United States ambassador, and I have not had any such thought."

"I have no plans about the British war debt to the United States, and I have no intention of discussing the war debt with President Roosevelt when I get over there."

"As I said before, the whole purpose of my trip is to attend the graduation exercises at Harvard and see my son Joseph graduate."

"When the exercises are over I shall spend a few days in Boston and I shall return to England with John and Joseph on June 28."

"I have no idea how such a story became public because it is absolutely false and without foundation. There is not a word of truth in it."

"Give my regards to the people in Boston and New England."

TOLD OF PARLEY

Ambassador Kennedy, by his release, indicated he was considerably disturbed that such a story had become public.

The story in the London newspaper stated Ambassador Kennedy had conferred with Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and Viscount Halifax, foreign secretary, to put the finishing touches to the war debt scheme.

The report of Kennedy's plans to settle the $4,000,000,000 debts on which only $2,000,000,000 has been paid came one day before England and France are due to send their note to Washington expressing regrets that payments are impossible at this time.

Boston Tax Rate Set At $41.30

A tax rate of $41.30 per thousand, an increase of $2.60 over the 1937 figure and an all-high record for Boston, was set for the current year today by Mayor Tobin.

Stating that the total sum necessary for municipal operation in 1938 amounts to $79,140,000, the mayor declared that $17,570,975 will accrue from license fees and state income tax receipts and from a $3,000,000 loan recently made to keep the tax rate down to its present mark.

OVERLAY FUND

Leaving this income aside, the mayor is forced to raise the remaining $61,569,067 from taxation.

In addition, he will be forced to find some other means for raising a sum of $2,462,762 to be known as an overlay fund, which is to be used against tax abatements for the year.

Breaking the $41.30 tax down into its components, the mayor asserts $2.91 is payable to the state by the city as its share of the cost of state government. $2.33 goes to pay part of the expenses of Suffolk county, while the cost of running the city takes the remaining $38.06.

Of this last sum, $10.04 goes for operation of the school system.

PAY-AS-YOU-GO

Apparently timed to coincide with the tax rate announcement by the mayor, a report was issued by the Boston Municipal Research Bureau urging a pay-as-you-go policy in city expenditures designed to reduce the city's debt service cost by $9,000,000 in ten years.

Negro War Vets Seek 100,000 Jobs

Attacking certain veterans' groups for alleged "secret machinations" against minority Negro membership, a temporary organization of National Colored War Veterans of America today launched a drive to enroll 100,000 members by October 1.

Monroe Mason, temporary organizer, announced a pre-convention will be held July 31 and August 1.

Most vital problem to be solved, he said, are to find jobs for 100,000 unemployed Negro war veterans.

White House detail, traveling with the President, and Larkin a Nahant patrolman, but they both escorted "Teddy."

Nahant, because it is isolated by the causeway, offers no real patrol problems. The long, narrow stretch between Lynn and Nahant proper, serves as a natural barrier.

Officers also pointed out that there are no barren stretches on the peninsula town and very few empty buildings.

While cars will be carefully checked and only those bearing the official town "stickers" allowed in Nahant on Saturday, town fathers made it clear today that visiting pedestrians will not be barred.

The causeway, an old trolley car reservation, will provide parking space for more than 5000 cars, Chief Larkin estimates.

Anyone, on foot, he says, will be welcome to visit Nahant to see the President . . . if they can catch a glimpse of him . . . and to watch the festivities of America's Number One bridal couple.

"Even if they sink the town, we won't bar people who want to walk in," James Devereaux, chairman of the board of selectmen, agreed.

It wouldn't surprise Larkin or his force a bit if more than 250,000 people take advantage of the "walking permit."

JOHN GETS FITTING

While the officials' necessary and complicated maze of detail was being considered, John and Anne went about their own private last-minute preparations.

Shortly before noon Thomas Larkin, chief of police, hurried up the steps of the Clark estate, the marriage license in his hand.

Before he could reach the door knocker John opened the door and reached for the document.

Chief Larkin handed it over and said:

"Here is your marriage license, Mr. Roosevelt. Be sure you don't lose it!"

John grinned, but made no comment.

A few minutes later, after finishing a hurried breakfast, Anne and John left for Boston, Anne to see about flowers for the wedding, John for a last check-up of his wedding suit.

Colonel Edward Starling, chief of the White House secret service, arrived at the New Ocean House, Swampscott, shortly after the couple left for Boston. He is making his headquarters there while directing secret service men covering the wedding.

The Roosevelt clan arrives, in installments, tomorrow. When they conclude their duties today they will spend the rest of the time together, alone.

It will be the last hours they will have together before the marriage. They had no special plans, they said.

Four generations of Roosevelts will attend the ceremony, with the Roosevelt children playing a prominent part.

Franklin, Jr., James, Elliott and Anna Roosevelt Bottiger, together with John, are members of the second generation.

Pleads Not Guilty In Bridal Shooting

Pliny C. Lombardi, 49, of Washington street, West Newton, was held for trial tomorrow after he pleaded not guilty today in East Cambridge Court on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon with intent to kill.

Police allege Lombardi shot Martin Guido, 48, of Belmont street, Belmont, through the abdomen at the wedding reception of Lombardi's daughter.

Kennedy Talks of Debt Plan With Chamberlain

By WILLIAM HILLMAN

Copyright, 1938, by International News Service

LONDON, June 13—American Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy and British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain in a 45-minute conversation today touched on the subject of Britain's defaulted war debt.

The ambassador conferred with Chamberlain and later in the afternoon with British Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax, preparatory to sailing Wednesday to the United States for a nine-day visit during which he will make a report to President Roosevelt.

Meanwhile, the United States dispatched to Britain the usual bill for arrears and the next installment on the debt, due tomorrow, June 15, the same day on which Kennedy sails for New York aboard the Queen Mary.

USUAL BRIEF "NO CASH"

The United States will receive the usual brief reply, stating Britain is unable to pay at the moment for reasons set forth in previous replies to American demands for payment.

The British reply will express the hope that it may be found possible to reconsider the entire debt question at a propitious moment in the future.

The British note will follow the formula that discussions should take place "whenever circumstances are such as to warrant the hope that a satisfactory result might be reached."

It is known that Kennedy, in addition to talking with British government leaders, and foreign diplomats here, also informally discussed the war debt problem with bankers.

But behind the scenes experts quietly busied themselves with details of a new offer for a final settlement of the defaulted debt problem which is so intimately bound up with the development of Anglo-American relations and the international arena as a whole.

TO REPORT TO PRESIDENT
This new offer will be discussed through diplomatic channels and when Kennedy personally reports to President Roosevelt.

Official circles would, as usual, disclaim it, but it was learned that the debt situation formed one of the topics discussed by Kennedy and Premier Chamberlain today.

First among certain proposals and suggestions the ambassador will make to President Roosevelt will be those involving the knotty debt problem. Coupled with this will be the question of trade relations and the prospects of reaching an economic pact with Britain.

The ambassador will also give

Kennedy's Successes In London

Ambassador Kennedy has chalked up the following achievements during his London stay to date:

1—Conclusion of a new naval agreement.

2—A tin and sugar agreement, safeguarding American interests.

3—Advancement of a proposal to deal with the Pacific dispute with Great Britain which, if accepted, will be regarded as revolutionary in diplomatic practices.

4—The safeguarding of American movie rights in Britain, which had been threatened by a drastic bill in Parliament.

5—The winning of several concessions for America in the present difficult Anglo-American trade negotiations.

Of primary importance, however, is the war debt angle. On this question the next move is up to Washington.

The President his reactions to the various major issues confronting Europe today as he has been able to observe them in the three and a half months since he became the American ambassador to the court of St. James.

KANSAS CITY, June 14 (INS)—Mrs. J. F. Cornett, 28, felt much better but still had internal pains today after a pair of seven-inch surgical forceps was removed from her abdominal cavity.

Mrs. Cornett underwent an appendicitis operation three years ago and it appeared the operating surgeon had forgotten to remove the forceps.

Senate To Pass R. R. Loans Bill

WASHINGTON, June 14 (AP)—The Senate banking and currency committee agreed today to report favorably legislation liberalizing government loans to railroads.

Senator Barkley of Kentucky, majority leader, said after telephoning the White House that President Roosevelt "had no objections" to the legislation.

He forecast favorable Senate action today.

The measure would waive for one year a requirement that the Interstate Commerce Commission must certify a railroad is not in need of reorganization before the road can obtain Reconstruction Finance Corporation loans.

It would authorize equipment and maintenance loans and existing collateral requirements would be lifted, leaving the question of security up to the discretion of the RFC and the ICC.

WPA Vote Probe Move Turned Down

WASHINGTON, June 14 (AP)—The Senate audit committee initiated today a proposal that the Senate find out whether either federal or state funds are being spent to influence elections.

It voted to instruct the regular campaign investigating committee, headed by Senator Sheppard (D.) of Texas to make the inquiry.

At the same time the committee rejected a resolution by Senator Tydings (D.) of Maryland to set up a committee to investigate any complaints that WPA funds were being used for political purposes.

Lewis Defied Walsh-Healy Bill Is Killed

WASHINGTON, June 14 (INS)—Defying CIO Chief John L. Lewis, the House rules committee today killed the Walsh-Healy bill, designed to put more teeth in the National Labor Relations Act.

The action was taken after a bitter two-hour session behind closed doors, with aides of Lewis outside the door for the fateful word.

The committee tabled a motion by Rep. Sabbath (D.) of Illinois to grant the bill preferred status on the House calendar. The measure apparently was killed, as it now can be acted upon in the House only under suspension of the rules or by unanimous consent.

Only four of the 14 members, it was reported, supported the measure. They were Chairman O'Connor (D.) of New York, Harlan (D.) of Ohio, Sabbath (D.) of Illinois and Dies (D.) of Texas.

Asked whether the bill might be considered under suspension of the rules, Speaker Bankhead said that he had "no plans for such action."

The measure, which brings all government contracts of $2000 and over under the minimum wage and maximum hour provisions of the old Walsh-Healy act, also provided for blacklisting of firms failing to obey orders of the National Labor Relations Board.

CIO Leader Lewis conducted a personal lobby for the bill yesterday, with his aides threatening reprisals at the polls if Congress failed to act on the measure.

CIO leaders frankly stated that they wanted the bill passed so that big firms such as the Bethlehem and Republic Steel Corporations and the Ford Motor Company would either abide by order of the NLRB or stand on all hope of getting federal contracts.

Since the bill also brought shipbuilding under the old Walsh-Healy Act, which the present measure amends, and with the government launching its huge naval expansion program, the proposed weapon would have been especially effective against steel corporations.

O.K. Thousands For N. E. Waters

WASHINGTON, June 14 (INS)

Secretary of War Woodring today approved a vast rivers and harbors improvement program, extending over the nation and costing $63,708,980.

The projects include $22,725,500 for new work and $28,983,480 for maintenance of earlier projects.

The funds were provided in the War Department appropriation bill for the next fiscal year, approved late yesterday by President Roosevelt.

The projects include: Boston harbor, $210,000. Cape Cod canal $386,000 and $275,000 maintenance. New Bedford and Fairhaven harbor, $60,000. Connecticut river, below Hartford, Ct., $50,000 and $100,000 for maintenance. Providence river and harbor, R. I., $210,000.

In Life These 9 Flew 180 MPH 2 MPH They Returned In Death

YOSEMITE, Cal., June 14—Through wind and gale and screaming storm six men and three women rode the wings of fury just 15 weeks ago tonight—at 180 miles an hour.

Today their bodies arrived back at Wawona—a ten-hour night journey on a mule pack train to cover only 20 miles of snow country from the mountain peak against which they died.

Through the treacherous snow country in this wild terrain of the Sierra Nevadas, the patient, sure-footed mules felt out each step on the way down to Wawona from the spot near the top of 9750-foot Buena Vista peak.

HEARSES TAKE ON CARGO

It was against this storm-driven peak that the TWA airliner, with its cargo of nine, crashed on the night of March 1, as Pilot John Graves fought to return to San Francisco.

Hearses took over the broken bodies in the mountain town today and conveyed them to Fresno, 90 miles west of the tragedy spot in the Sierras.

Members of the search party who brought the bodies out of the mountains said that only parts of the fuselage and assembly, and parts of the tail surfaces were recognizable.

STEWARDESS IN PLANE

All the rest was smashed to bits, but none of the wreckage had burned, indicating that Pilot Graves might have had a momentary glimpse of the peak looming ahead in the storm and cut his switches.

Flying blind in the night through a snowstorm, the plane struck and sheered off three pine trees.

It plunged 300 yards farther. There the ground crew found it, its broken nose shoved against the snow-covered peak, and its silver tail resting in another tree.

Eight of the bodies were thrown clear. The body of Stewardess Martha Wilson of Philadelphia still was in the plane. She had worn a red smock that could be seen through a break in the fuselage.

Business Index Holds Very Narrow Range

By HUGH E. BRADSHAW
Financial Editor

Despite all the bearishness and blue talk the trend of business on weekly basis so far this year has been remarkably stable. It is almost difficult to believe that some of the dreary industrial reports can be correct after examination of an index such as that compiled by the Administrative and Research Corp.

Business activity as portrayed by this source held within an index range of just under 64 to about 71 from January through May. Less than a seven-point variation. And still more unusual is the less than one point sidewise movement recorded during the month of May.

To our way of thinking such a performance would not have been possible if the steep decline which preceded it had not discounted, almost completely, all the bad happening of this depression. A new low has been set so far in June, but in the face of such stability it is hardly likely the ultimate minimum expected in July will be very far under that of last January.

STATE ST. NOTEBOOK

The boardrooms are wondering: . . . If May stock trading of 14,067,564 shares, the lowest for the month in 14 years, indicates downward exchange . . . If bank deposits of $32 billion, just $3 billion short of 1929, does not represent a good bull argument . . . especially in the event inflation talk becomes more general . . . for to be content to let it depreciate through idleness.

The Gossips have it: . . . That Westinghouse may show earnings of $1 to $1.50 per share for the second quarter . . . but that net in the following three-month period will be much lower than the first half average . . . That Hercules Powder net for the year on a per share basis is placed at $1.50 to $1.75 . . . and that there is no substantial improvement in sight for the products manufactured by the company.

RAILS HOLD KEY

After watching the market try to get started in one direction—without success—for over two weeks, it must be fairly obvious rails hold the key to any nearby movement. The group continues to hold within its "line" formation in defiance of all sorts of news. The area traversed by the closing Dow-Jones average is less than one point wide. It typifies speculative indecision.

With buying and selling power so delicately balanced in such an important group, traders are naturally loath to do anything of importance. But once the average breaks out of its "line" they lose little time in swinging into action. Positions are taken in accordance with the direction of the breakout and held for at least an intermediate period. Readers are advised to follow rail action very carefully this week.

Recovery In Prices Good Sign

By LEWIS HANEY

(Professor of Economics, New York University)

NEW YORK, June 14—Weekly figures indicate a new low for the great depression that came in President F. D. Roosevelt's administration.

One development, however, is distinctly encouraging in a statistical sense; namely, the upturn in commodity prices.

Of course, one must be cautious about assuming that such "turns" will stay put. When business is so much interfered with by political action, there can be no reasonable certainty in such matters.

But this is the most likely looking rally that has occurred for some months, and the importance of recovery in prices is so great that any move of this sort is to be watched.

It has been evident for a long while that buyers lack confidence in the commodity price structure. They hesitate to buy because they fear that prices have not yet reached bottom.

There is probably even some fear that despite all the inflation potential built up by devaluation and government debt, the radical attacks on business may yet force a more complete deflation.

Accordingly, the rise in commodity indices arouses hopes that the outlook for industrial buying may clear up and become more attractive.

Last week, advances occurred in grains, hard, cottonseed oil, cotton wool tops, raw sugar, rubber, tin, and scrap copper.

But even when it finally becomes clear that commodity prices have hit bottom, we can hardly expect an immediate right-about-face in business. (This has developed into one of the most severe depressions on record.)

It is not surprising, therefore, to find steel production hanging around 25 per cent of capacity, with prospects of some further slackening.

In the automobile industry, for example, the 1938 season may fairly be pronounced dead. Aside from irregularities due to holiday strikes, etc., motor production will probably drift lower, and may end in a virtual summer holiday.

France to Boost Military Forces

PARIS, June 14 (INS)—Extraordinary measures to increase France's military strength were decreed by the council of ministers today.

Augmentation of the air force is provided for instead of longer terms of enlistment, and existing motorized units will be reinforced and modernized. Large scale cotton-growing development in the colonies for munitions purposes also was decreed.

IMPORT FIGURES

Imports entering the port of Boston during the past week were valued at $2,068,517, according to figures released by Collector Joseph McGrath. Duties collected amounted to $244,746.63.

Mrs. C. Hastings, formerly of Mrs. Emma P. Hastings of Boston, was present at the ceremony, and about 50 of her closest friends at the home of her mother, Mrs. Augustus Vogel of Providence. Mrs. Hastings, who is known to her friends as "Wags", came to town of her own accord, to set off her friends for the wedding.

Due to the devotion Saturday of her step-father, Chester Humphrey, plans for Francesca Leighton's wedding to Ralph B. Hubbard, Jr., have been greatly curtailed. The wedding will take place next Saturday afternoon, June 15, the date originally planned, at the summer home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Chester Humphrey, in East Gloucester, and the bride will be attended.

The Debt Welchers

The Editor Says: Tomorrow, the American Government will again remind European nations of their unpaid war debts, with no expectation of payment except from honest little Finland.

The twelve thousand million dollars of war loans were made through the SACRIFICE AND DENIAL of the American people. What Europe fails to pay they must pay.

Consequently there can be no cessation or compromise of our insistence that THESE DEBTS BE PAID.

The amazing and unconscionable INGRATITUDE of these defaulting nations was never more clearly stated than by former Premier Edouard Herriot of France who once said France's debt to America was:

"Not only a debt of government to government, but it is MONEY DUE AMERICANS WHO IN ALL CONFIDENCE RUSHED TO SUBSCRIBE MONEY WHEN WE NEEDED IT."

AMERICA WAS SWINDLED, frankly and indubitably, by those nations which took our money and will not return it.

We rushed in all confidence, as M. Herriot said, to subscribe billions not only to help European nations win a war they could not otherwise have won, but also to support their reconstruction after the war.

The confidence was flagrantly OUTRAGED.

Every borrowing nation was bound by its every promise and pledge, bond and seal, to pay what it owed. Each gave its word, pledged its honor.

But NONE, except Finland, retains claim to honor or integrity of word.

OUR ONLY COURSE, in view of the wholesale debt-welching abroad, was the enactment of the Johnson Act which assures America against being SWINDLED AGAIN. No more sound or patriotic action has been taken by Congress since the advent of the New Deal.

The Johnson Act disbars the discredited, word-breaking, promise-repudiating nations from borrowing from us again.

We were fooled and swindled once, which was perhaps not entirely our fault, although it was the result of getting into a war we had no business getting into.

But if we are fooled and swindled again, by the same shameless and provedly DISHONORABLE nations, that will be ENTIRELY OUR FAULT.

The Political Parade

By GEORGE ROTHWELL BROWN

WASHINGTON, June 14

IN IMAGINING that President Roosevelt and the White House political playboys are out to defeat recalcitrant Democratic senators who voted against the Supreme Court Bill, in a spirit of petty revenge, the casual onlooker upon the passing show of politics does not penetrate deeply enough into the subtlety of New Deal purposes.

Mr. Roosevelt is a mighty good hater. But there is only the most superficial evidence that he is risking the wrecking of his coalition party, and all the dreams of perpetuating his policies after 1940, from common motives of spite.

The President has abandoned none of his objectives, not even NRA.

There is no reason to believe he has abandoned his idea of a complete subjugation of the Supreme Court by the packing process, not merely that he may have his way and fill the court with rubber stamps of the H. G. P. K. type, but that he may permanently impair the prestige of that tribunal, as one of the executive branches of government, with the power to overrule acts of Congress and the Executive will.

Two years will remain to Mr. Roosevelt when the new Congress comes in, in which to complete his Socialist reforms and his remodeling of the American representative government.

He will need the kind of Congress, or else he will be thwarted as many Presidents have been thwarted in the last two years of their second terms.

The alternative A THIRD TERM.

TO CARRY OUT his reforms, in which he ardently believes, and towards which he is constantly egged on by what T. R. would have called the "ragged fringe," Mr. Roosevelt must demonstrate his immense prestige.

To accomplish these reforms he must crush the spirit of independence in Congress, for old-fashioned independence is antagonistic to new-fangled innovation.

In the court fight this spirit of independence, long dormant, flared up.

Thus the Supreme Court vote became the test. If senators were independent on that issue, on the eve of coming up for re-election, how much more independent might they not become if, once safely re-elected, they could look forward to six more years in the Senate!

It is clear that in punishing—or trying to punish—recalcitrant Democratic Senators, Mr. Roosevelt is not thinking of the past.

He is thinking of the future.

SOME of our economic dreamers in Congress might take a monetary tip from Japan.

Japan has issued in North China literally tons of paper dollars.

They look like American paper dollars. They are called dollars.

They are valued in terms of the yen, but are not redeemable in the yen. They have flooded a vast area destitute of money, even Shanghai.

With this money Japan has been buying goods. She then sells these goods, taking in payment American dollars, French francs, and British pounds.

With this real money she then establishes foreign credits. The scheme for financing the war—a mystery to all who understand Japan's economic condition—worked well. For a time.

What of Today, Tomorrow?

N. H. Mayor Tells How 3000 Jobs Were Made

New England ingenuity is constantly at work, even in the face of depression and recession, toward bolstering up the industrial first line of defense.

The battle is constant, and today Dr. Damase Caron, mayor of Manchester, N. H., and Arthur E. Moreau, president of Amoskeag Industries, Inc., describe what is being done in that city for Manchester's today and tomorrow.

By PAUL WHELAN

Boston Evening American Staff Writer

Hard hit has Manchester, N. H., been in the past few years in an industrial way, the worst blow falling when the Amoskeag Mills, once the largest cotton mills in the United States and second largest in the world, closed down.

But out of the ashes of its hopes, Manchester is rising steadily, with new industries already begun, others nearly ready and still others in contemplation.

Not yet out of the woods, Manchester, but with the trail picked up and spirits high.

"Manchester has never spoken the word defeat," Mayor Damase Caron told the Boston Evening American today, "and Manchester never will have to utter that word."

"With new industries lately come or soon to come here, I feel that we can get many back to work again."

"MANCHESTER IS ON HER WAY BACK UP THE HILL AND SHE WILL NOT BE SATISFIED UNTIL ONCE MORE SHE IS AT THE TOP."

Arthur E. Moreau, president of Amoskeag Industries, Inc., in which 3,000 over the property of the Amoskeag Manufacturing Company. Mayor Caron 18 months ago, describes some of the new projects for the Boston Evening American.

"We found," he said, "that we had acquired 69 buildings, containing 8,800,000 square feet of manufacturing and storage space. This does not include basement space or buildings so badly damaged by the flood that it would have been too costly for repairs."

"Since then the Amoskeag Industries have sold 32 buildings, containing 2,550,000 square feet of space. They have leased 500,000 square feet and still have available for sale or lease 3,750,000 square feet."

"IN THE MILL YARDS AT THE PRESENT TIME THERE ARE LOCATED, OR WILL BE LOCATED IN THE VERY NEAR FUTURE, 43 CONCERNS. OF THESE, 23 ARE MANUFACTURING COMPANIES AND 20 ARE WHOLESALE SALES AND DISTRIBUTORS OF VARIOUS PRODUCTS."

"With few exceptions these manufacturing companies have moved to Manchester from points outside of New England."

"Because of the new industries brought to Manchester, MORE THAN 3000 JOBS HAVE BEEN CREATED."

"Meanwhile the Amoskeag Industries have sold off several large tracts of land that are being developed for residential purposes, and a number of tenement blocks that are being remodeled into commercial properties."

"THIS, TOGETHER WITH THE ALTERATIONS IN THE INDUSTRIAL BUILDINGS, HAS PROVIDED EMPLOYMENT FOR MANY IN THE BUILDING TRADES."

"As a result of this activity, a number of interesting sidelights have developed Manchester, because of its geographical location, is rapidly being recognized as a distributing point for all of New England, particularly the northern portions.

"Such articles as food products, for a dry goods building materials, heating and air-conditioning equipment, brushes, raw wool, leather and paper products are now being stored and distributed."

"ONE OF THE NEW COMPANIES NOW OPENING A PLANT IN MANCHESTER IS A BRANCH OF A CANADIAN FACTORY. IT IS THEIR PLAN TO START OUT BY MANUFACTURING SOAP ONLY. LATER WHEN THEY ARE ESTABLISHED, THEY WILL MANUFACTURE A LINE OF PRESERVES, JAM AND CANNED VEGETABLES."

"They plan to supply the farmers in the surrounding territory with seed, so as to insure a dependable source of supply."

"While this is being done in some parts of the country, it is believed it will be an innovation in the East."

"Another company has purchased the Amoskeag foundry. They plan to manufacture chilled iron shot for abrasive purposes."

"There is also a growing demand among the manufacturers of parts of automobiles and airplanes for this shot in place of sand for polishing castings."

"TEXTILE MACHINERY, WHEN JUNKED, MAKES THE BEST MATERIAL FOR SUCH A PRODUCT. THIS COMPANY HAS CONTRACTED WITH THE AMOSKEAG INDUSTRIES TO PURCHASE WHATEVER MACHINERY THEY MAY PLAN TO SCRAP."

"IT IS SOME SATISFACTION TO FEEL THAT THIS OLD MACHINERY, WHEN DISPOSED OF, WILL NOT GO TO OTHER COUNTRIES TO BE USED IN COMPETITION WITH AMERICAN WORKMEN, AND ALSO TO KNOW THAT IT WILL NOT BE TURNED INTO WAR MATERIALS."

"Among the other products manufactured in the old Amoskeag mills at present are such items as cheese cloth and gauze for bandages, shoes, tires, worsted, gabardines, wool top dyeing, worsted yarns, men's clothing, reconditioned motors and machinery, mop yarns, fine rayons, inter-linings, leather-covered rolls, metal stampings, fine electrical measuring instruments and fine cotton cloth for handkerchiefs and other articles."

"AND THESE ARE ALL JUST STARTERS."

BEST BET—CHANCELLOR CARESS, 8TH RACE

TAUNTON, June 14—Chancellor Caress, in the eighth race, seems much the safest wagering hazard on tonight's card at the Taunton dog track.

Racing Secretary Jimmy Hixson noted the Rhodes pup with a pretty good feel, but when the red ball dropped out of the tube, leaving it the inside hole there, it didn't seem much else to it.

In the featured ninth race, Mrs. Major C. Sparks should offer it as a pretty good bet for the money. A pup, however, it has just won some much the best of the lot.

Gold Plate Race
Is Real Classic

Jumpers to Meet
At Agawam

—By JACK CONWAY—

THOSE PERSONS who are interested in racing for the sport itself and not from pure commercial reasons are pleased that the famous Gold Plate race of the Eastern Horse Club will be revived at Agawam on June 24, and that the Farmington Valley Plate will be staged at the up-state track on June 25.

Mr. Boston

Both of these events are for jumpers, and should bring together classy fields.

The Gold Plate race was a feature at The Country Club in Brookline when Bayard Tuckerman, Jr., John R. Macomber, Billy Almy, Jr., and other lovers of the thoroughbred horse invested their time and money in the improvement of the sport.

The Gold Plate race is restricted to amateur riders. The horses that will compete in this event at Agawam are owned by society leaders, and as a result the race will attract many persons with social standing.

Competition between amateur riders is always interesting.

The Farmington Valley plate is open to both amateur and professional riders. It is one of the outstanding classics in Connecticut, and it will draw many visitors to Agawam from the Nutmeg State.

The jumping races at Agawam have attracted considerable favorable attention. They have been a novelty for the public, and have helped to increase the attendance.

There has not been great betting on the steeplechase races, but those persons who have gone to Agawam to watch the jumpers have wagered heavily on other races. The result has been that Agawam has been up in both attendance and mutuel handle this year.

It was General Manager Eddie Brennan's idea to have steeplechase races at Agawam. Brennan, with a splendid racing background and hundreds of contacts among the better racing people, has been able to attract plenty of entries for his steeplechase races as well as for the other events on his cards.

Racing Secretary Ty Shea has not been obliged to carry the entire burden of filling the races with the right kind of horses. Shea has been able to devote his time to his racing book, and the numerous conditions surrounding the running of eight races a day, while Brennan has maintained friendly relations with the horsemen.

Halter Men Should Be Curbed

I BELIEVE the halter men who have been doing such a thriving business claiming horses at Suffolk Downs should be curbed. There were 96 claims through Saturday of last week. A large number of these claims were made by the Medway Stable through George Alexandra, its trainer, and by Miss A. Doris who was represented by Harvey Campbell.

Many of the smaller horsemen shipped to Suffolk Downs with two, three and four horses. They spent much time and effort bringing these horses to the races. If they entered their horses, they were in danger of having them claimed.

All horsemen expect there will be a reasonable number of claims at a race meeting, but they have a right to be resentful when claims are made on a wholesale basis.

It has been a mystery where the Medway Stable has been able to get the stall space necessary to care for the numerous horses it has claimed.

This condition also puts too many of the better horses under the control of small groups. Horses that otherwise would be running regularly are being held for what their trainers consider the right spot.

It is unfair to blame the difficulty for filling races at Suffolk Downs on Racing Secretary Gene Bury. He stepped into his job on the death of Jim Munroe, and only a short time before the Suffolk Downs meeting opened. Bury then became a victim of the claiming war.

I believe each racing stable should be only entitled to a limited number of claims during a meeting. With such a rule, the halter men would not be in such haste to claim horses. They would wish to save some of their claims for horses that might run late in a meeting.

New System at Narragansett

THERE WILL be no presiding steward at the Narragansett race meeting that opens on August 1, according to an announcement by President James E. Dooley. Tom Thorp, Sam Nuckolls and a third steward to be named by the state will each have equal standing.

Sox Must Stand Pat

Casey Stengel Wins Players' Respect

Cronin Fails To Land Pitcher

ST. LOUIS, June 14.—If the Red Sox get another pitcher before the ban falls on big league player swaps at midnight tomorrow, Manager Joe Cronin will be the most surprised person east or west of the Mississippi.

"None but second-rate flingers are available," he said, "and we'd have to give up a first class infielder or outfielder to get one of these."

"So there's nothing for us to do but stand pat."

Cronin isn't trying to kid himself into the belief that he'll ever be free of worries this year, but he values his staff more highly today than at any previous time this spring.

Jim Bagby, Charlie Wagner and Ed Emerson Dickman impress him more favorably every time they see action, and Johnny Marcum's Sunday performance against the White Sox did more to chase the "flu" germ out of the pilot's system than did the expert ministrations of Trainer Win Green.

Robert Moses Grove, the 32-year-old leader of all big league pitchers with an amazing record of 10-1, is stepping out against the Browns this p. m. with a four-day rest under his belt.

But he's not exactly a cinch to beat the lowly Browns, for "Buck" Newsom will do the home hurling and, the loquacious ex-Sox has been exceptionally successful in beating the greatest southpaw the game has ever known.

Still, opinion under the ring apron was that this had been an accident. Louis, stung, would leap into action as soon as the mist cleared in his brain. Fury would replace caution. But it didn't. Schmeling was the aggressor from that time on. Schmeling set the tempo. Through the remaining rounds he stalked Louis, sledging him time and again with that corkscrew right.

came up his knees buckled and he reached for support on the ropes. The crowd, recovered from its amazement, let loose a mighty roar.

Catechism for Expert

THE PUNISHMENT LOUIS TOOK WAS terrific. His legs seemed to belong to two different people. The right side of his face looked like a lump of raised dough. His arms hung limply. It was not a pretty sight. And in the 12th round he collapsed in an attitude of prayer against the ring ropes before sliding to his stomach with his head pillowed on his arms. It was all over but the mailed vituperation to the press.

How much of the "somedays" Schmeling saw which he can turn to his advantage again? How much of the memory of his savage licking of Louis' memory now? Whether Schmeling, two years older and, according to nature's law of diminishing reflexes, has the power, stamina and speed to duplicate his feat against an adult and more experienced champion? Whether Louis can retain a plan of action once the battle starts, or whether another tag on the whiskers will render him hysterical and defensive, are all questions which no self-styled expert can answer. They are hidden from the eye.

Change Conn. Boxing Rules

HARTFORD, Conn., June 14 (INS).—The boxing industry in Connecticut today faced a wholesale revision of its rules and regulations.

Frank Coakey, newly appointed state athletic commissioner, told a gathering of Connecticut sports writers he was dissatisfied with present conditions and said a "cleanup is needed."

He said he felt that for one thing there were too many unskilled trainers and seconds in boxing circles.

Commissioner Coakey outlined a plan whereby they must pass a course in administering first aid to boxers and said that licenses would be withheld until prospective seconds pass the test.

Sports writers urged the commissioner to remove the sham from "amateur" boxing and permit participants to be paid in the open instead of secretly.

Bees Open Two-Weeks' Home Stay

By WALTER KILEY

For all the Bees' very ordinary road trip, Casey Stengel's managerial efforts continue to call forth the highest admiration.

Fully conscious of his club's limitations, Casey has worked tirelessly to take up the slack with shrewd tactics.

Every one of his waking moments, in fact many of those he should be giving over to sleeping forgetfulness, are devoted to the problems of giving Boston a respectable representative.

There is nothing Casey likes better than to have his ball players spend their idle moments in discussion with him, rather than with the Cards, talking over the problems and working together to the end that each and every one of them might hit on some little strategy which will help both the player and the cause.

Casey has won his players' respect. When they fall short, one and all feel that they have let him down.

Today the Casey Stengel Bees open a four-game series with the second-place Chicago Cubs at the Beehive, one which starts off a two-weeks home stay.

Lou Fette (1-7) and Tex Carleton (6-4) are rival hurlers.

Fette has turned in several fine pitching efforts during the past couple of weeks, only to get no backing offensively.

Seabiscuit Arrives at Suffolk Downs

Ready To Duel 'Admiral'

By DAVE WILSON

"Seabiscuit is in fine shape—never better," said factotum Tom Smith, trainer of C. S. Howard's Seabiscuit, mighty handicap horse, on arrival with his charge this morning.

Smith's answer to the stories out of New York while the hard tack-riding on horse was training for his match race engagement was, "Down in New York the press seemed to be seeking a bit of sensational news. They even trained the horse for me in their columns."

"But I know from past training in Boston that up here we not only are received splendidly and are let alone when we wish to be alone, but the climate is just what Seabiscuit likes."

The arrival of Seabiscuit was a refutation of the many skeptics who claimed that C. S. Howard's horse would never come here because he is ducking a race with War Admiral.

Asked, "Will Seabiscuit go in the Massachusetts regardless of War Admiral's entry?" Smith replied:

"Nothing will please us better if Mr. Riddle does enter his horse. We have never dodged the issue."

"Naturally, we believe Seabiscuit is the best horse in the country. If there is a better one than Seabiscuit we will doff our hats to him."

"We lost a tough one in Santa Anita, another picture finish. If Red Pollard had been up on Biscuit we would have won the big race with ease."

"Woffie rode splendidly, is one of the best jockeys in the world, but Red Pollard knows the horse as no one ever has or probably ever will know him."

Smith's statement regarding the condition of his horse was also a refutation of the opinion of many trainers that Seabiscuit was still a bit sore from the trouble that bothered him in New York.

On Opponent's Ball

WASHINGTON, June 14 (AP)—This is one of golf's saddest stories—the tale of a man who shot a hole-in-one, yet lost the hole.

It was like this:

Harvey Cobb, capital golfer, was playing Rodney Thomas, sports writer. Thomas was dog tired as they reached the 10th tee, after playing 36 holes.

As Cobb teed up, Thomas stretched out on a bench. Cobb drove for an uphill green, on which only he flag was visible.

"Go on," said the tired Thomas; "hit one for me."

Cobb did, and it was another good drive.

The men wandered up to the green and saw only one ball.

It was Cobb's—five feet from the cup.

"Don't squawk, Red," said Cobb, "but I must have socked your ball in the woods."

"I won't complain," agreed the new man. "I said I'd take the shot, no matter where you hit it."

Then Cobb almost fainted, for Thomas' ball was nuzzled in the cup for a hole-in-one.

What's This Fuss About?

Were the famous racer in a talking mood he might inform all present that all this fuss was unnecessary, for his duel with War Admiral is just another race to the star performer.

Hurley Asks Repeal of 'Wage Tax'

In special messages to the Legislature today, Governor Hurley asked that employee contributions to the state unemployment compensation fund be abolished and that bond issues totaling $23,625,000 looking toward unemployment relief projects be authorized.

The bond issues would be for highway work and building construction, projects designed to employ thousands, some under control of the state public works department and others controlled by cities and towns.

In asking elimination of the employees' payroll contributions to the unemployment compensation fund, the governor said the fund now amounts to $58,750,000, and that to date about $11,000,000 has been paid out to approximately 90,000 unemployed.

Estimates of the Unemployment Compensation Commission indicate, Hurley said, that $33,000,000
